

KAYES CHRONICLES

The Kayes Learning Corner Newsletter

EDUCATION IS THE MOST POWERFUL WEAPON

NELSON
MANDELA

TEACHING TEAMWORK Written by Ms.Crystal

- Small group activities
Working together in small groups helps children develop social and cognitive skills, and encourages cooperation, conversation, and problem-solving.
- Creative projects
Work together to create a piece of art or make up a story.
- Active listening
Teach children to make eye contact, avoid interrupting, and repeat important points.
- Accountability
Teach children to take responsibility for their mistakes and sometimes take one for the team.

KAYES KIDS IN MOTION

In the month of November Kaye's will be digging deep and talking to our scholars about gratitude, family and love.

What are you thankful for?

What is gratitude?
How can we show gratitude?

ways to teach our littles about gratitude

1. Read books about gratitude.

Kaye suggest starting with books for any topic of gratitude.. Books can be a great way to start a conversation about what gratitude means and ways that certain characters express it.

2. Model gratitude and authenticity.

Model what gratitude looks like for your little. Show them how to respond and teach them words they can say when someone does something nice – whether someone gives you a gift, pays you a compliment or hosts you for a meal.

3. Talk about feelings of gratitude.

Have conversations with your child and ask them how they feel when they have done something for someone. Also, ask them how they feel when someone has helped them. This will reinforce the act of giving and being grateful.

Important Dates to remember

Thanksgiving Luncheon

Friday November
22nd 2024

Thanksgiving Break
Wednesday November
27th 2024- December
2nd 2024

Kayes Christmas Break
December 23rd Until January 2nd 2025